PRACTICE AREAS

Professional Experience

Meg Nicholls is a partner at Hudson Cook's Fort Worth, Texas office. She advises businesses on compliance with consumer financial services and consumer protection laws. She is experienced in developing and maintaining robust compliance programs that are essential to proactively comply with the myriad of complex consumer financial services industry laws.

Prior to joining Hudson Cook, Meg served as the head of compliance and privacy for GIACT Systems, LLC, an identity verification and fraud prevention company, where she designed, implemented, and maintained a compliance management system to ensure compliance with federal and state consumer reporting and privacy laws. Meg also previously served as corporate counsel for CoreLogic and as an attorney in the consumer financial services practice at a national firm.

Meg graduated with a degree in Biology and a minor in Communications from the University of Dayton, and earned her J.D. from the University of Dayton School of Law. She is licensed to practice in California and Texas.
